We offer you a printed QR code or NFC chip (included in the price). You determine the content, i.e., the information on the QR code or NFC chip. Our offer includes a dynamic design of the content.

With the possibility of writing a link on the NFC chip, you allow the customer at any time to dynamically adapt (change) the information leading to the link to the current market. Thus, when the NFC chip is read, the information can be kept up to date at all times, this has a huge advantage over traditional advertising. You always convey the latest status to the customer and do not have to print out and distribute new flyers, for example.
